

Terms of Service

By accessing and using our Discord community, you agree to the following Terms of Service:

- Community Access: Your membership grants you access to our community, but we reserve the right to revoke access at any time for violations of these terms.
- No Refunds: All purchases are final, and no refunds will be issued under any circumstances.
- User Conduct: You agree to follow all community rules and guidelines. Any form of harassment, spam, or misconduct will result in immediate removal.
- Content Ownership: Any content shared within the community remains the property of its respective owner. You may not distribute or share exclusive content outside of the community.
- No Liability: We are not responsible for any losses, damages, or issues arising from your use of this community. You join and participate at your own risk.
- Policy Updates: We reserve the right to update these terms at any time. Continued use of the community constitutes acceptance of any changes.

By using our community, you acknowledge and agree to these terms.