

Return Policy

This Return Policy governs all purchases made from The Market Lens LLC, referred to here as "we," "our," or "us." By purchasing a membership or accessing our content, you acknowledge and agree to this policy in full.

All Sales Are Final

All purchases are final and non-refundable. This includes monthly subscriptions, quarterly plans, and lifetime access purchases. Because all users receive immediate access to our private educational content and community, there is no way to reverse or revoke the delivered value. As such, we do not offer refunds under any circumstances.

No Refunds on Initial or Recurring Payments

Our content and resources are released to users in full at the time of purchase. We do not accept refund requests based on dissatisfaction, lack of use, change of preference, misunderstanding of the service, or personal financial considerations. Users are expected to review our offering and conduct full due diligence before joining. We do not issue partial refunds, nor do we offer prorated cancellations.

No Free Trials

We do not offer free trials or partial-access versions of our platform. Access is granted in full at the time of purchase. For this reason, we recommend only joining when you are fully ready and committed to making use of the resources provided.

User Responsibility

It is the responsibility of each user to manage their subscription and access. Failure to cancel a subscription before the renewal date will not be grounds for a refund. Users can manage or cancel their subscriptions directly through Whop at any time.

Contact

For any questions or concerns related to this Return Policy, please contact us at lens@themarketlens.com.

